Website Report 2009 to 2010 Rosemary Horton
St Paul's Beaconsfield http://www.stpaulsbeaconsfield.org.au/

The website reflects the progress and journey of the community. This year the highlight has been the building of the East End.

I add the information from the service sheet to the website each week. I have created archives of the weekly meditations and prayers from the sheets. Community members contribute photos, so there is a pictorial archive as well. Special thanks to Peter Smith for the daily photos of the progress of the East End, to Gabby for weekly service photos and to Lia for her special occasion shots, and to many others for this fabulous record. Peter's sermons are faithfully transcribed by Gabby and I add each to the website. There's a Highlights page to whet the appetite and then the full sermons to read and ponder over.

There is also a links section, including information about each of the world's religions as well as resources for study, prayers and meditations.

Allied to the website is the Discussion Group, http://groups-beta.google.com/group/discussion-st-pauls where those who wish share prayers, meditations, ideas, problems and journeying. Why not explore the website and visit the Discussion Group?

There are a steady stream of visitors to the website, from all over the world, become one of them.
